

Fun Reads!

- A Cat Named Tim & other stories by John Martz
- Dinosaurs for Breakfast by Amy J. Lemke
- Hamster & Cheese by Colleen Venable
- Little Mouse Gets Ready by Jeff Smith
- Luke on the Loose by Harry Bliss
- Minions
- Peter & Ernesto by Graham Annable
- Silly Lilly by Agnes Rosenstiehl
- Sleepless Knight by James Sturm
- Snorkeling with Sea-Bots by Amy J. Lemke

Get Connected

613-267-1224

30 Herriott St.
Perth ON
K7H 1T2

www.perthunionlibrary.ca

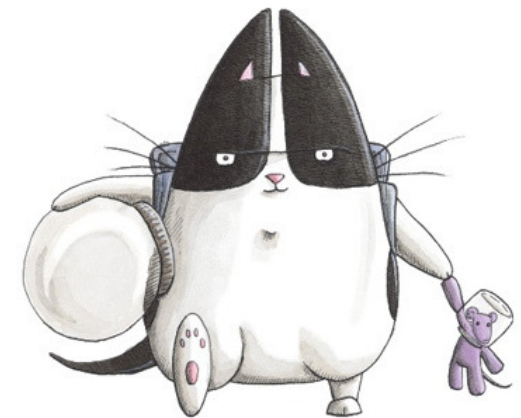

@perthlibrary

Graphic Novels

for early readers!

Series

- Anna & Froga series by Anouk Ricard
- Binky series by Ashley Spires
- Noodleheads series by Tedd Arnold
- Hilda series by Luke Pearson
- Johnny Boo series by James Kochalka
- Narwhal & Jelly series by Ben Clanton
- Owly series by Andy Runton
- The Adventures of Polo series by Regis Faller
- Tiny Titans series by DC Comics

"Toon" Series

- Benjamin Bear in "Bright ideas!" by Philippe Coudray
- Benny & Penny in "Lost & Found" by Geoffrey Hayes
- Mo & Jo: Forever Fighting Together by Jay Lynch
- Nina in "That Makes Me Mad!" by Hilary Knight
- Otto's Orange Day by Jay Lynch
- Stinky by Eleanor Davis
- The Shark King by Kikuo Johnson
- Zig & Wikki in "The Cow" by Nadja Spiegelman
- Zoe and Robot: Let's Pretend by Ryan Sias

Tips

Studies* show that reading graphic novels helps with reading comprehension and with increasing engagement for reluctant or beginning readers.

Why not have even more fun and try writing your own graphic novel? Divide a page into different sized panels, add some speech bubbles and you're good to go! You could even use a word bank to make sure you're practicing your sight words. Take turns drawing and writing; it's fun to work together!

*Brenna, Beverley. How graphic novels support reading comprehension strategy development in children. Literacy. 47.(2) July 2013.